

ii ITALIAN in ITALY

ITALIAN in ITALY - National Association of Italian Language and Culture Schools – is an Association for the dissemination of the Italian language and culture in the world.

ITALIAN in ITALY represents Italian Language and Culture Schools for non-Italian students operating throughout Italy and aims to guarantee the professional standards of its member schools in their services to students.

The ITALIAN in ITALY Association aims to make Italy's considerable cultural, linguistic, artistic, historical and natural heritage better known abroad.

In fact, it has established collaborations and relationships with Italian cultural institutes abroad, international associations, universities, linguistic associations, operators, teachers, who can contribute to the development of the Association's statutory aims.

The aim is not to protect our language, but to use it as a tool to access the Italian culture.

The Association aims to promote Italian culture, and in fact many of the students are cultural tourists. Those who come to Italy to learn the language almost always do so out of pure pleasure, because they love the Italian language, because they want to better appreciate a museum, an opera, or an exhibition, and these cultural tourists are usually opinion leaders in their home country, also involving their children, friends and relatives in the following years.

ITALIAN in ITALY is accredited by Italian Ministry of Education
